FIRED UP ABOUT HER JOB AT NATICK

Most of us have experienced the occasional workday that goes up in flames. For Peggy Auerbach, however, that's a normal occurrence.

CHILDREN LEARN ABOUT WORK DONE FOR SOLDIERS

Potential scientists, mathematicians and engineers of the future roamed the Natick Soldier Systems Center campus April 20 during the 15th annual Bring Your Daughters & Sons to Work Day. The 145 boys and girls learned what their parents, grandparents, aunts, uncles and friends do at work every day, and how important that work really is.

TEACHERS RECEIVE STEM TRAINING

Maybe their students were enjoying the time off, but a dedicated group of high school and middle school teachers spent their April vacations developing skills at the Natick Soldier Research, Development and Engineering Center that they will apply later in their classrooms.

SURVIVOR RECALLS HOLOCAUST DURING VISIT

At an age when children should have nothing more to worry about than grade school, Albert Linder was simply trying to stay alive. It was World War II, and his younger sister and all four grandparents had already died during the Holocaust.

CSF ALL ABOUT RESILIENCE, PERFORMANCE

Lieutenant Colonel Daniel Johnston, medical director of Comprehensive Soldier Fitness, briefed an audience at the Natick Soldier Research, Development and Engineering Center on April 9 about the different changes CSF is going through, including its effort to focus on physical well-being and assist not only the war fighter, but Soldiers' families and Army civilians.
