SAYING GOODBYE AFTER MORE THAN 30 YEARS

"It's tough to take the uniform off ... it's what I know," said Master Sgt. Lewis Mikulecky during his retirement ceremony on March 11 at the Natick Soldier Systems Center.

NSSC HOLDS HEALTH AND WELLNESS FAIR

Even sitting forward in the massage chair with his face cradled by the headrest, Command Sgt. Maj. Earl Allen still led the way for others at U.S. Army Garrison-Natick.

SOLDIER POWER

As markets worried about unrest in Libya and other parts of the Middle East, crude oil prices hit a 2 1/2 year high ... with prices surging to more than $100 per barrel. Those rising global fuel prices have wide-reaching effects across the U.S. economy, including implications for the Department of Defense.

NATICK CELEBRATES WOMEN'S HISTORY MONTH

She might have seemed to be an unlikely speaker for a Women's History Month observance. "I would start by saying I'm not a historian," Jeanne Munn Bracken told the audience March 16 at U.S. Army Garrison-Natick's Hunter Auditorium. "I didn't like history."

LT. GEN. LYNCH GIVES AFAP UPDATE

I often say you can read about history or make history. This year, the voices of Soldiers, Civilians and Families that have contributed to the AFAP process were heard and history was made at the recent AFAP General Officer Steering Committee held the first week of February.
